

NEW BRISBANE FOOD MICROBIOLOGY LABORATORY

OPENING 13TH FEBRUARY 2017

There is an exciting development happening at ALS with the opening of a new microbiological food testing laboratory in Brisbane.

A state of the art microbiological food testing laboratory has been built at Stafford (Queensland) and will be ready for business on 13th February 2017. This offers food clients along the East Coast of Australia full testing coverage, complementing the other ALS food testing laboratories in Scoresby (Victoria) and Rydalmere (New South Wales).

Laboratory space became available within the existing ALS Environmental laboratory and the fit out was completed during the middle of 2016. Equipment was installed and commissioned and team member training was completed by November 2016.

ALS received accreditation from NATA for the new site on 15th December 2016. A scope of accreditation can be reviewed on the following link.
